PROSECUTION RESTS CASE

DEFENSE IN SULZER TRIAL WILL OPEN ITS CASE IN COURT TODAY.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The Assembly board of managers today rested their case in the trial of the impeachment of Gov. William Sulzer. The high court then adjourned until tomorrow afternoon, when counsel for the governor will submit several preliminary motions for the court to decide before opening the case for the defense. These disposed of, counsel probably will ask permission to take another adjournment before calling their first witness.

This witness, it is said, will be Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's campaign secretary, whom counsel for the impeachment managers failed to put on the stand, although he was under subpoena. Sarecky indorsed many of the checks given to Sulzer during his campaign which were not reported in his sworn statement of campaign contributions.

Both the governor and Mrs. Sulzer are expected to take the stand before the defense closes.

The governor will defend his failure to report the numerous contributions he received on the ground that they were personal gifts, it is believed.

Mrs. Sulzer, it is said, will defend the Governor's alleged speculative transactions in Wall street with testimony to show that they were conducted for her account. She is expected to tell the story of the loan which she is said to have contracted with the Carnegie Trust Company and to seek to prove that for the sole purpose of paying the loan the governor borrowed money from the Stock Exchange firm of Harris & Fuller on securities owned by her and did not speculate with the firm.

When the long-missing Fred L. Colwell, said to be the governor's agent in his alleged Wall street transactions will be called was a subject of much speculation tonight. His whereabouts have been known to the Governor's attorneys, but they have declined to produce him unless it is stipulated that he would not be placed under arrest for refusing to obey a subpoena of the Frawley investigating committee. This, counsel for the impeachment managers said tonight, they were powerless to prevent.

Lieut. Com. L. M. Josephthal, who paid a debt of $26,752 contracted by the governor with Harris & Fuller according to the testimony, is expected to be another witness. He reached Albany tonight from New York, where he arrived today from Europe. His testimony, it is understood, will be highly favorable to the governor.

WET WEATHER PREVAILS IN NORTHERN TEXAS

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 2.—The wet weather which has flooded South Texas and Louisiana this week reached North Texas Wednesday, and downpours are reported in practically every direction from Fort Worth. Damage to crops is the only property loss suffered so far in the upper section of the state, however.

Travelers reaching the city from Beaumont, Houston and other South Texas points tell of severe damage from the torrential rains there during the past three days. The downpours continued all day Wednesday, and several of the flooded towns are facing grave danger.

HOLY ROLLER NOT IMMUNE FROM BITE OF RATTLESNAKE

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 1.—Rev. Haslop, a holy roller preacher of near Gadsden, Ala., is in a critical condition from the bite of a rattlesnake and may not live, according to reports of his physicians. He claimed to be possessed with divine power of healing and was himself immune from harm. He proposed to prove this by allowing a rattlesnake to bite him. Two boys, taking the preacher at his word, brought him the snake Monday and he allowed it to strike him five times, in the presence of a large crowd.

SENATE CAUCUS APPROVES BILL

DROPS COTTON FUTURES TAX. BILL WILL LIKELY PASS TODAY.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Disaffection among Democratic senators, which today prevented final action on the tariff bill, was dissipated under the influence of a heated caucus discussion, and this evening the caucus approved the bill as reported by the conference committee of the house and senate. But six Democrats voted against approving the report.

The caucus decided to abandon its position on the proposition in the bill to tax dealings in cotton futures and leave the entire subject for later legislative action. Both the amendment of Senator Clarke of Arkansas, written into the bill in the senate, and the less drastic substitute presented by House Leader Underwood and adopted by the house, will be thrown out by the senate Democrats.

After the caucus Senator Simmons said he as confident the senate would complete its consideration of the tariff bill tomorrow. He said a motion would be made first to agree to the conference report and that then he would move to disagree to the Underwood cotton tax amendment and also to recede from the senate amendment.

With the bill thus disposed of by the senate, the house probably would agree to drop the cotton futures tax

FEDERAL OFFICERS SPILL MUCH LIQUOR

Provided that the distillery or brewery makes the Oklahoma bootlegger put up cash in advance for his purchases, Oklahoma is certainly a fertile field of endeavor for the brewers and distillers. There was enough "bought-and-paid-for" liquor destroyed during the month of September in eastern Oklahoma by the United States marshal's office and field deputies to float a battleship or two, and have enough left over for torpedo and gun boats.

The report of United States Marshal E. A. Enloe, Jr., for the month of September will show an almost unprecedented activity in the suppression of liquor traffic. Holmes Davidson, the deputy at Tulsa, heads the list in the number of arrests and seizures. In fact, over half of the liquor seized by the office last month was found in Tulsa county.

The reports show that 184 gallons of whiskey, gin, alcohol and wine were seized and destroyed by breakage by Davidson and his assistants. This does not include three wagon loads destroy Monument Marks Old Trace.

Tusculum, Ala., Oct. 2.—State officials and other prominent citizens of Mississippi and Alabama assembled at the interstate boundary line near here today and took part in the dedication of a boulder monument marking the spot by which the old Natchez trace was run when it was opened as a mail route in 1791. The old highway was in use for nearly a century and traces of it still exist. The monument to mark its location was erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution of Mississippi and Alabama.

After years of success through perfect organization and machine like regularity, by use of the party lash and patronage leverage, republicans are now complaining bitterly because democrats in congress have been able to thoroughly organize the party and put through legislation promised by the party. Evidently democratic dissolution was expected.—McAlester News-Capital

THE DOCTOR

The doctor is a good fellow. His living depends upon our getting sick, yet he cheerfully tells us how to keep well. We call him up at 3 a. m., tell him the baby has the colic, and if he doesn't do a tango for one place immediately, we hold it against him all our lives. After he has worked with the little fellow the rest of the night and a part of the day and has gone home and pursued the even tenor of his way for a couple of months and then happens to mention to us that we owe him a couple or three dollars, we go up in the air and ask him how in the dickens he expects us to pay him before fall. In the fall—some fall—we swap him a rusty calf or make him "take it out in trade." He spends his whole life trying to find out what is the matter with us and how to cure us and we know more in a minute than he would in a thousand years, and we tell him so—at least we tell the neighbors so. If a patient gets well we attribute it to his vigorous constitution, if he fails to recover we put a dent in the doctors' reputation. All of which the doctor seems to consider only a part of his business, and serenely goes about trying to keep us out of

Tackle Catarrh Now

Be Free All Winter

Avoid Colds, Stalk Pneumonia, Keep Your Nose Clear and Your Throat Free.

Don't Wait Till You're All Banged Up. Use S. S. S. Now.

If you will go into any first class store and get a bottle of S. S. S. you are on the way to getting rid of Catarrh. But don't let anyone work off that old trick of something "Just as good."

S. S. S. is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

The medicinal components of S. S. S. are relatively just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritive properties of the grains, meats, sugars, and fats of foods. Any local irritating influence in the blood is rejected by the tissue cells and eliminated by reason of the stimulating influence of S. S. S.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system.

You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils, and all other diseased conditions of the blood. For special advice on any blood disease write to The Swift Specific Co., 302 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not trifle with substitutes, imitations or any of the horde of "Just as good" Counterfeits of S. S. S.

and other classes will have to follow or be counted back numbers.

EAT LESS MEAT

IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys
If bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and you kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush the kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. (Adv.)

A Beautiful Festival

Beginning this evening the Jews will celebrate their New Year, called Rosh ha-Shanah, which falls on the first of Tishri. This festival is second in solemnity to Yom Kippur. According to one tradition, it is the anniversary of the beginning of creation. It is the occasion for the annual spiritual inventory. It is given over to self-searching. The zodiac sign of the balance of the weighing of all peoples. All the inhabitants of the earth are supposed to pass on this day for judgment before the Creator. It is also a day of omens. If the day is warm it foretells a warm year; if cold it presages a generally cold year. Many beautiful customs have grown up around its observance. As an omen of good luck, one should eat pumpkins, fenugrecks, leeks, beets and dates. These grow quickly, and their names in Aramaic signify "plentiful" or "forgiveness." Nuts are forbidden because the word in Hebrew suggests "sin." One feature of the observance is the dipping of bread into honey, with this benediction: "May it please the Lord our God and God of our fathers to renew for us a good and sweet year." The salutations characteristic of celebration of the beginning of the year everywhere are used, but the Jewish practice of heart-searching is unique. —From Globe-Democrat.

Law Gets Man After Long Wait

New York, Oct. 2.—With all the appearance of a man who had retired from business after a successful career, Walter G. Farnald appeared as a prisoner before United States Commissioner Hitchcock today for a preliminary examination on an indictment charging him with swindling through the mails. A decade ago Farnald was widely known as the guiding spirit of two promoting companies, in Jersey City. Complaints were made that the companies were doing a fraudulent business and indictments were returned against their officers. Farnald escaped arrest and fled to Europe. For seven years he enjoyed himself in perfect safety in Paris, as the offense with which he was charged was not extraditable. Then came a desire to see old Broadway once more and he sailed for New York, evidently figuring that he and his case had been forgotten by the authorities. But post-office inspectors with long memories were on hand to greet him and he was promptly arrested as he stepped down the gangplank.

Many weird tales are told of the theft of diamond and ruby eyes from the idols of India, and this evening at the Airdome there will be presented a story founded on one of these tales, showing what befell the gambler who stole the ruby eye of the god of friendship. "His Vacation" is a lively drama of thrilling situations. "The Animal" is a gripping drama of the west.

Mrs. T. B. Harrell and daughter, Miss Glenn, are the guests of Mrs. U. G. Winn. The Harrell family now live at Fairview, Okla. Miss Harrell recently won a two-year scholarship in the state university and will go from here to Norman to take up her work.

CHAPTER XXII

Like Her Ancestress.

I leaned in the embrasure of the southern window, gazing at my lighted lanterns, which dangled from the bayards at Saint-Yves. The soldier Rolland had so far kept his word—three red lamps glimmered through a driving mist; the white lanterns hung above, faintly shining.

Full in the firelight of the room sat the young countess, lost in reverie, hands clasping the gilt arms of her chair. At her feet dozed Ange Pitou. "I am afraid a story I have to tell is not going to be very cheerful," I said, "and I am also afraid that I must ask you to listen to it."

She met my eyes with composure, leaned a little toward me, and waited. And so, sitting there in the tinted glare, I told her of the death of Delmont and of Tavernier, and of Buckhurst's share in the miserable work. "Madame, I am paining you," I said; "but I am going to cease you even greater unhappiness."

"Tell me what is necessary," she said, forming the words with tightened lips.

"Then I must tell you that it is necessary for Mademoiselle Elven to leave France tonight."

"Why?"

"It is better that I do not tell you, madame."

"Tell me. It is my right to know."

"Not now; later, if you insist."

"This is dreadful," she muttered. "If I did not know you, I should trust you with all my heart."

"Oh, are you certain she must go? It frightens me; it is so strange! I have grown fond of her. . . . And now you say that she must go. I cannot understand—I cannot."

"No, you cannot understand," I repeated, gently; "but she can. It is a serious matter for Mademoiselle Elven; it could not easily be more serious. It is even perhaps a question of life or death, madame."

"In heaven's name, help her, then!" she said, scarcely controlling the alarm that brought a pitiful break in her voice.

"I am trying to," I said. "And now I must consult Mademoiselle Elven. Will you help me?"

"What can I do?" she asked, pitifully.

"Stand by that window. Look madame, can you see the lights on the semaphore?"

"Yes."

"Count them aloud."

"She counted the white lights for me, then the red ones."

"Now," I said, "if those lights change in number or color or position, come instantly to me. I shall be with Mademoiselle Elven in the little tearoom."

I left her in the shadow of the curtains, and passed through the room to Sylvia's side. She looked up quietly from her embroidery frame, then, dropping the tinted silks and needles on the cloth, rose and walked beside me. When we entered the little tearoom she passed on to the lounge and seated herself on the padded arm.

"What is it?" she asked.

"I am sorry to tell you," I said, "sorry from my heart. You are not very friendly to me, and that makes it harder for me to say what I have to say."

"What do you mean?" she asked, guardedly.

"I mean that you cannot stay here," I said. "And you know why."

"Will you explain this insult?" she asked, hotly.

"Yes. You are a German spy," I said, under my breath. "French troops will land here tonight or tomorrow. I went on calmly. 'You will see how dangerous your situation is certain to become when Buckhurst is taken, and when it is understood what use you have made of the semaphore.'"

She winced, then straightened and bent her steady gaze on me. Her courage was admirable.

"I thank you for telling me," she said, simply. "Have I a chance to reach the Spanish frontier?"

"I think you have," I replied. "Kelly Ryre is going with you when—"

"He? No, no, he must not! Does he know what I am? Did he offer to go?" she asked, incredulously.

"Mademoiselle, he insists."

Without turning her head she said:

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD-CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Cakes and Dull Headache Vanish.

Now is the time for all good men Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. The sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

"Does he know that it may mean his death?"

"He has suffered worse for your sake!" I said, bitterly.

"What?" she flashed out, confronting me in an instant.

"You must know that," I said, "three years of hell-prison—utter ruin! Do you dare deny you have been ignorant of this?"

For a space she stood there, struck speechless; then, "Call him!" she cried. "Call him, I tell you! Bring him here—I want him here—here before us both!"

Ryre, passing the long stone corridor, looked up as I beckoned; and when he entered the tearoom, Sylvia, white as a ghost, met him face to face.

"Monsieur," she said, harshly, "why did you not come to that book store?"

He was silent. His face was answer enough—a terrible answer.

"Monsieur Ryre, speak to me! Is it true? Did they—did you not know that I made an error—that I did go on Monday at the same hour? They told me at the usine that you had gone away—I thought you had forgotten—that you did not care."

"Care!" he groaned, and bowed his head, crushing her hands over his face.

Then she broke down, breathless with terror and grief.

"I was not a spy then—truly I was not, Kelly. There was no harm in me—I only—only asked for the sketches because—I cared for you. I have them now; no soul save myself has ever seen them."

To Be Continued.

M'NAIR-DALHOUSER

Wednesday evening Mr. J. W. McNair and Mrs. Mary Dalhouser were united in marriage, Judge H. J. Brown performing the ceremony.

Mrs. McNair has lived at Ada many years and has many friends whose best wishes for her happiness go with her. Mr. McNair is comparatively a new citizen of Ada, but he holds the esteem of all who know him. The News extends its best wishes to this worthy couple.

BOUQUET FOR JUDGE McKEOWN.

Judge Robert L. Williams has announced that shortly after the beginning of the year, he will resign his seat on the supreme bench, in order that he may feel under no restraint in advancing his candidacy for nomination for governor to which he aspires. This announcement has naturally led to considerable speculation as to whom among the many able members of the bench and bar in that district the democratic voters will select for his successor on the bench. Several have been mentioned, but among them all, no name has aroused more enthusiasm or received a heartier welcome from lawyers and laity alike than that of Judge Thomas McKeown, the popular judge of the district now comprised of Pontotoc and Seminole counties.

Judge McKeown is a resident of Ada, and professionally is known as one of the brightest lawyers and most erudite and upright judges in the state and his elevation to the supreme bench will insure to the people of the state a most worthy successor to the eminent gentleman who was the first chief justice.

It is no reflection on the other eminent men, who are at least receptive candidates for the nomination to succeed Judge Williams, to say that if Judge McKeown enters the race that he will start with the advantage of practically a party vote in his favor in his present judicial district.—Shawnee News-Herald.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the highest duty of man, defined in Holy Writ, as a part of the religion, pure and undefiled, is to visit the widow and the orphan in their affliction and comfort them; and

Whereas, in the practical affairs of life it often becomes necessary to "visit" and "comfort" in a more substantial way than by mere words, or presence, by contributing of our substance to relieve those distressed conditions; and

Whereas, the United Charities of the City of Ada, represents the organized effort of the city in the work of looking after these worthy in need; and

Whereas, it is necessary at this time to begin to prepare for the needs of the poor for the coming winter, through the organization above mentioned.

Therefore, Tuesday, October 7th, 1913, is hereby designated and proclaimed, "United Charities Day" at which time the committee representing the United Charities of the City of Ada will solicit support for their organization. It is to be hoped that the citizenship of the city will not all wait to be called upon to respond to this very, very, worthy effort upon the part of some of the good people of Ada.

Issued this the 2d day of October, 1913.

E. S. RATLIFF,
Mayor and Commissioner of Public Justice and Safety.

Marshall's Eighteen Years Wedded.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—Presents and congratulations from many friends were received by the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall today as reminders of their eighteenth wedding anniversary. They were married in Angola, Ind., Oct. 2, 1895. Before her marriage Mrs. Marshall was Miss Lois Kimsey. Her father was clerk of the court at Angola and she acted as his deputy. Mr. Marshall was a lawyer in an adjoining county and made the acquaintance of his future wife while trying a case at Angola.

Modern Methods Are Best

Mammy now uses Calumet Baking Powder instead of sour milk and soda, or the cheap and big-can kind, because it is more convenient—because she knows from experience that the baking will be lighter, daintier and more uniformly raised—that it will keep fresh longer.

Calumet is certain of good results—it is purer and more wholesome than the cheap big-can kind, and more economical in the end.

Give Calumet one trial. If it fails to give you absolute satisfaction return it and get your money back. If you don't get Calumet you don't get the best.
